STANLEY SECURITY SOLUTIONS ADDS “HIGH TRAFFIC” ENHANCEMENT TO ITS DOOR CLOSERS

New Advanced Variable Back-Check Feature is Ideal for Areas where Restrictive Door Movement is Required

Indianapolis, IN – March 28, 2007 – Stanley Security Solutions, Inc., a provider of integrated access control and security solutions, today announced that it has added a new feature for its door closers. The new Advanced Variable Back-Check Door Closer (AVB) is specifically designed for educational, hospitality, healthcare and retail facilities where there is generally a need to more closely manage and restrict movement through high traffic openings.

“High traffic openings create many challenges for architects and facility managers. In general, proper door opening and closing speeds can usually be achieved through the use of a multi-adjustment door closer,” said Michael McCoy, product manager for Stanley Security Solutions. “However, when additional control is needed to effectively reduce opening speeds associated with heavy traffic or abuse, the standard back-check adjustment is not always adequate and this is where we saw a distinct need for an enhanced version of our door closer.”

The standard back-check provides opening resistance at 75-degrees. Conversely, with the AVB feature provides resistance at 45-degrees. Earlier checking provides greater restriction to the opening and maintains the integrity of the peripheral hardware and surrounding structure. Additionally, the restricted speed on the door dramatically reduces the risk of injury to individuals on the pull side of the door.

In addition, because the AVB feature provides supreme control to the opening, tremendous internal pressure is created within the Closer Body. Fortunately, the R-14 Silicon Aluminum Alloy construction of the door closers eliminates any chance of product failure. However, it should be noted the AVB feature is not intended to take the place of a door-stop.
