Access Control Solution

For education market

The NT500 from Stanley Security Solutions is a user-friendly security and access control solution specifically designed for the education market. The technology-based system offers end users a security solution designed to protect students, staff and assets. The system secures perimeter doors and classrooms through a distributed network architecture that allows client workstations and field controllers to be placed directly on their existing network. The NT500 is able to adapt to existing legacy computer systems and infrastructure. Stanley Security Solutions Inc.
