STANLEY SECURITY SOLUTIONS APPOINTS MICHAEL MOSTOW DIRECTOR OF GOVERNMENT PROGRAMS TEAM

Industry Veteran to Provide Direction and Leadership for Newly Formed Integrated Security Resource for Government Clients

Orlando, FL.,(ASIS) – September 12, 2005 – Stanley Security Solutions, Inc., a leading provider of access control and security solutions announces the appointment of Mike Mostow, a recognized and seasoned security industry and government market professional, to lead its Government Programs Team (GPT). Formation of the group was announced today in a separate news release. The Government Programs Team will provide complete life-cycle support on integrated electronic security and mechanical access systems and equipment for Stanley Security Solutions' expanding government market client base.

In his role as Director of the Government Programs Team, Mr. Mostow will be responsible for overseeing operations for the entire group including profit and loss. Mr. Mostow will also be responsible for the development of the Government Programs Team and for driving and supporting future government and neighbor market growth.

“We consider ourselves extremely fortunate to have someone as skilled, experienced and knowledgeable as Mike to lead our Government Programs Team,” said Justin Boswell, president of Stanley Security Solutions. “Mike is renowned as an authority and an insider within the government sector and this recognition, along with his keen technology and systems integration knowledge and expertise will fast track the progress and inroads Stanley Security Solutions has made thus far into this critical market segment.”

“I am very excited to be a part of Stanley Security Solutions and about the rollout of the Government Programs Team in particular,” said Mr. Mostow. “My decision to join Stanley was based in large part on its already firm presence in the government space and by its established relationships with numerous government agencies including the Departments of Defense, Energy, NASA and the Federal Reserve Bank.”

Mr. Mostow continued, “We [Stanley] have the unique ability to provide the full spectrum of integrated physical security products, systems and services that government requires—from analysis, engineering and installation design through installation, maintenance and operation—virtually anywhere. My objective for the Government Programs Team is to continue to build on this momentum and further establish Stanley Security Solutions as a government market leader.”

Prior to joining Stanley Security Solutions, Mr. Mostow was the Director of Federal Sales and Business Development at Johnson Controls, Inc. (JCI), where he was responsible for developing its federal market integrated security systems business, including all sales, pre-sales engineering, and business and proposal development activity and initiatives.

Mr. Mostow earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration and holds an active Top Secret Department of Defense Security Clearance. His professional affiliations include the Government Smart Card Interoperability Committee and the National Defense Industrial Association.
